

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As with any community support effort, this package was developed with input from the community and the people who serve it. There are many people who supported development of this package, and each deserves special thanks.

Retired Washington State Patrol Officer Roger Lake who is the President of the Washington State Narcotics Investigators Association (WSNIA), and Major Russ Huard from the National Guard Counterdrug Office in Washington, DC were responsible for format development and co-authored this “METH PREVENTION COOKBOOK - Recipes for Community Safety” package.

The SAFE STREETS CAMPAIGN was instrumental because they identified the need for a specialized community based METH training package. The work the SAFE STREETS CAMPAIGN does in and with the community is an extremely important part of this project, as their people will physically execute most of the community education and training in Pierce County. Their analysis of data received from community efforts was an essential part of putting this together.

Success of this project is also due to the dedication and support of:

SAFE STREETS CAMPAIGN Board members
Pierce County Alliance
Tacoma Police Department
Pierce County Health Department
Pierce County Sheriff's Office
Pierce County Prosecutor's Office
Washington State Narcotics Investigators Association
Washington State Patrol
Washington State National Guard Counterdrug Office
Together Program in Olympia, Washington
The National Guard Counterdrug Office in Washington, DC
And the many others who provided guidance and ideas
